GLADIOLUS GARDENS

Price List 1916

THE NEWER GLADIOLUS

Wonderful improvements have been accomplished with the Gladiolus within the past ten or twelve years.

The great variety and combinations of color, form of the flowers and style of spike in the several classes to which they have evolved, together with the simple cultural requirements, have made the gladiolus the most popular of all garden flowers.

The varieties I offer in this catalog have all been grown in my gardens, or have been favorably reported by the American Gladiolus Society and National Gladiolus Society, (Great Britain).

I have discarded many of the older varieties, and some of the newer sorts that do not meet the requirements of what a named variety should be. I have also discontinued growing the common and older mixtures that have been in the catalogs year after year, so that the purchaser of my mixtures is assured of extra fine quality in any mixture purchased of me.

The American Gladiolus Society was organized in Boston, May 27, 1910.

It was formed for the purpose of stimulating interest, and in promoting the culture and development of the Gladiolus. I was secretary of the society from its organization until August 1914, and can say that much credit should be given this society for the tremendous popularity the Gladiolus now enjoys.

The National Gladiolus Society of England organized the following year and has also been a great factor in bringing the merits of this beautiful flower before the flower loving public.

Unless otherwise directed, I will not send substitutes for such varieties that are not in stock, or that I cannot supply. Orders to any amount at single bulb or dozen rate prices will be sent carriage free. If sent by express, 25 bulbs at 100 rate. No orders filled for less than 50 cents. As a guarantee of good faith, cash to the amount of 25% of the order should accompany all C. O. D. orders.

Purchasers of my bulbs are requested to report promptly all mistakes in filling orders and any bulbs that are not true to name will be replaced two for one the following season.

SIZE OF BULBS

There seems to be a general idea that bulbs of monster size are preferable for producing large spikes of flowers. Now, some of the most desirable varieties never produce bulbs exceeding 1¼ inches in diameter, but all bulbs that I send out will be fully matured regardless of their size, and will produce splendid spikes of flowers. I do not sell old, worn-out bulbs, my bulbs are young, and will bloom for years.

HOW TO PLANT AND CARE FOR THE GLADIOLUS

Gladioli may be planted from early spring until the middle of June. If possible spade in some barnyard manure the previous fall. If this manure is not available, use a good potato fertilizer in the drill or pulverized sheep manure, or both; mix thoroughly with the soil. Set the bulbs two to four inches apart in a double row in the drill, and the drills about 30 inches apart, or if in single rows 16 or 18 inches apart. The bulbs should be planted six to eight inches deep.

Gladioli are also very effective planted among shrubbery, and hardy perennials, but not in too shady a location as they require much sunshine. Gladioli will do well in any soil fairly enriched, but if the soil is clay it is a good plan to use enough sandy loam or even pure sand to just cover the bulbs in the drill. Water once a week during a continued drouth, applying about 2 gallons to 5 feet of row.

Dig the bulbs in October and immediately cut off the stalks a half inch from the bulb, and after they are thoroughly dried, remove the old roots and store in a cool but frost-proof room or cellar.

VARIOUS MIXTURES OF HIGHEST QUALITY

GIANT ORCHID-FLOWERING GLADIOLUS LEMOINEI (Gage)

This magnificent new strain of The Lemoinei Butterfly Hybrids is the result of crossing the best types of the Lemoinei varieties on Gladiolus Mrs. Frank Pendleton, one of the most beautiful gladioli ever produced.

The plants are vigorous, bearing strong spikes of enormous, well expanded flowers in dainty tints of pink, white and cream; dazzling scarlets and rich dark red shades with the characteristic blotches of carmine, scarlet and maroon, producing a flower at once distinctive and beautiful. As the stock is yet limited, only one dozen will be sold to each purchaser. Per dozen bulbs $1.00.

GAGE'S SUNNYSIDE HYBRIDS

These are a strain of seedlings of the choicest varieties of my own hybridizing.

In writing of this strain, Mr. H. E. Meader says in the Florists' Review:

"L. Merton Gage is kept quite busy at present selecting and marking the choicest specimens in the finest collections of seedlings I ever examined. Among the many fine things, I counted ten solid whites and also eight yellows, one of which surpasses anything now on the market. The finest of these is yellow as a Von Sion Narcissus, and of fine form and substance. A white seedling as large as Princes at its best, of perfectly pure paper-white color showed no tinge of deepening color under a broiling sun."

NOVELTIES FOR 1916

GANDAVENSIS CLASS

MODESTA (Gage)—This is the name of a very beautiful butterfly which this gladiolus resembles in its coloring, and the remarkable manner in which the colors are arranged, produces an almost perfect reproduction of this butterfly. The dominant color is a rich Bordeaux purple, with blotches of Barium yellow on the lower petals and the upper petals carrying smaller blotches that give the flowers the butterfly effect....50c each.

VENICE (Gage)—A dainty and distinct new color for the gladiolus. Venetian pink; the lower petals having a blotch of sulphur yellow striped with ox-heart red. Very free flowering, and one of the earliest to bloom.....25c each.

GLORY (Kunderd)—The opening buds are of a soft Nankeen yellow, edged with pink, but as the blossoms expand the ground color changes to a rich ivory white slightly suffused with pale lavender, which is deeper on the edges. The lower petals are buffish, with a pale crimson stripe through the center; the throat is pencilled with buff and crimson. The spike is straight and strong and bears twelve to twenty blossoms, which are large and of graceful form. The petals are heavily "ruffled," giving the flower a peculiar soft and beautiful effect. This is the variety that made Kunderd famous. It was introduced two years ago, and was awarded certificates of merit at Rochester, Boston, and Baltimore....5c each. 50c per doz.

GLORY OF HOLLAND—A new pure white with anthers of delicate lavender. Blossoms large and set gracefully upon a tall spike. Gained award of merit at Haarlem and at London.
10c each. $1.00 per doz.

GOVERNOR HANLEY (Kunderd)—Rich cardinal, a little deeper in the throat. Flowers medium size, four to six at one time. A fine sort for cutting.....20c each. $2.00 per doz.

IDA VAN (Kunderd)—The color of the petals is that brilliant red which the French Florists call "carthamus" but which is known in England as "Lincoln" red, while on the inferior petals is a blotch of strawberry red. The blossoms are large and wide open and with their brilliant coloring, make an imposing appearance. Six to eight are in bloom at one time. They have been much admired wherever exhibited and in the summer of 1913 won an award of merit at the exhibition of the British Gladiolus Society, held in London. The plant is vigorous and the spike is straight and tall. 5c each. 50c per doz.

INDEPENDENCE (Woodruff)—This variety has never received the attention to which its grand qualities justly entitle it and the strange reason for this neglect is found in the plant's splendid fertility. It proved so prolific that it quickly became abundant and the price was lowered so rapidly that buyers supposed it was of inferior quality and passed it over without examination. The color of the blossoms varies from deep rosy pink to orange scarlet but always brilliant and rich. It is used extensively by the Boston florists for designs.
5c each. 40c per doz. $3.00 per 100.

LE TRIOMPHE (Brunelet)—Purplish mauve splashed with a darker tone and striped with carmine; creamy white blotch on lower petals. Flowers very large and well expanded, measuring four to five inches across. Spike straight and strong. A showy flower of great merit.....25c each. $2.50 per doz.

LOVELINESS (Van Konijnenburg)—As its name implies this variety produces flowers of distinction in daintiness and beauty. The color is of pale creamy tone, soft and delicate, with a roseate tinge in the centre. The flowers are large and well placed on the spike; and as a major part of these splendid blossoms are open at one time they make this variety superior for decorative effect. A vase full of these exquisite beauties make a delightful display. The stalk is tall and straight and strong. The variety was first seen in London last year and was much admired. Received an A. of M. of the National Gladiolus Society and also gained a certificate in Haarlem.....15c each. $1.50 per 100.

MAY (Crawford)—White, finely flaked with bright, rosy crimson. Plant vigorous, spike strong, excellent for forcing. Very popular.....5c each. 40c per doz.

Flowers large and well expanded—three and four open at one time. Stalk tall and straight. Unusual and attractive. There is no other gladiolus like it. It is beautiful and refined, and stately as a duchess, and will be prized by those who admire the patricians of the garden.....25c each. $2.50 per doz.

Excellent for cutting...25c each. $2.50 per doz.

MRS. MALCOLM MACKAY (Syn: Improved 1900) (Kunderd)—

Cherry-red of intense tint, with a large patch of snowy white on the lower petals. Flower of good size, well expanded, and of graceful form—five to eight in bloom at one time. Spike tall, straight, and strong. Somewhat similar to Contrast and Margaret, but the red is brighter and the white purer, and together they produce a more attractive blossom than any of the several varieties, that wear these strongly contrasted colors. Especially effective in the garden, yet fine for cutting.

25c each. $2.50 per doz.

MRS. L. MERTON GAGE (Kunderd) (13)—Glistening white, with an occasional suffusion of delicate pink; lower petals bear a dainty strippling of rose pink. Anthers purplish blue. Lemoinei Class

(Butterfly Hybrids)

BADENIA (Fitscher)—For a description of this beautiful variety we cannot do better than quote Mrs. Francis King, the well-known authority on floriculture.—She writes: "No words can paint the beauty of this flower. A true lavender in color, not too blue, its flowers are large, finely expanded and many open upon the stem at one time." This variety is quite new, but was exhibited last season at Chicago and at several of the large flower shows in Europe, and wherever seen it created a sensation. MRS. FRANK PENDLETON (Kunderd)—The selection of the most beautiful variety of any flower is a good deal a matter of personal preference, but in a list of the most beautiful gladioli now grown the premiere station would probably be awarded to Mrs. Frank Pendleton by the majority of judges. It is indeed a splendid flower and its brilliant beauty is obtained through a combining and blending of brilliant colors—bright pink of two tones and rich carmine, the latter appearing on the inferior petals. Its type of beauty is of a compelling sort—you cannot pass a vase filled with its spikes without stopping to admire. Wherever it had been exhibited it has been given unstinted praise, and has won award at Boston, Worcester, Rochester, New York, Baltimore, Chicago, and London and this at a time when beautiful gladioli are not rare—the competitors and rivals of Mrs. Frank Pendleton have been famous beauties. The blossoms are large, well opened and of graceful form. The spike is tall and straight and the entire plant displays health and vigor.

15c each. $1.50 per doz.

Rosella above ageratum Stella Gurney cannot fail to be a success in color paintings. LETTERS OF APPRECIATION

I purchased two hundred thousand gladioli last season and those that I got of you were the finest that I bought.

REGARDING GLADIOLUS MRS. FRANK PENDLETON

From H. Youell, Secretary, American Gladiolus Society.

Dear Mr. Gage:—It gave me very great pleasure to inspect your gladiolus fields and note the high state of cultivation of everything growing there.

The total absence of disease was very apparent. Among all your beautiful sorts, Mrs. Frank Pendleton, to my mind, is the finest, for it is in a class by itself. The immense spikes of such gorgeously colored flowers commands attention at once from professionals and amateurs alike.

Wishing you continued success,

H. YUELL.

Mrs. Frank Pendleton was the best in one of the hottest and driest seasons we ever had.
